POLITICS AND BOOMS

The Helena Colonel and the Butte General Talking It Over.

RICKARDS SAWING WOOD

Eob Smith is a Close Observer—Wednesday Promises to Bring About Lots of Fun in Republican Circles—Gossip.

Col. W. F. Sanders arrived from Helena yesterday in hot haste. The colonel is a faithful reader of the Standard and he noticed a little item in yesterday's Standard to the effect that Gen. C. S. Warren is out for McKinley; that "he couldn't eat a whole ton of crow in order to get one little strawberry." That is what brought the colonel to Butte, and on arriving he immediately hunted up General Warren and they spent some time drinking long sours with strawberries in them at the Butte bar.

It is stated on authority which ought to be reliable that an alliance offensive and defensive was concluded between the Helena colonel and the Butte general. It is also stated, however, that the general refused to accept the McKinley nomination for congress, although tendered in Colonel Sanders' most persuasive accents. The general said he had only been over from British Columbia three days, and while as a rule Canadians can get all the best offices in a mighty short time, he thought three days was rubbing it in. General Warren refusing the nomination it is now understood that O. F. Goddard of Billings will be put up as the McKinley candidate for congress. The main object of the gold men is to beat Hartman, and they figure that if the vote of Eastern Montana can be diverted from Hartman, a democratic candidate might be able to land the plum. It is stated that Mr. Goddard is willing to sacrifice himself in the endeavor to beat Hartman.

Governor Rickards returned to Helena yesterday having sawed several cords of wood during his stay of a few days in town. It is regarded by the opponents of Mr. Rickards that the governor has captured Levi J. Hamilton and along with him the A. P. support. If this is true none of the parties concerned will admit it. In any event, it is not to be denied that during the past few days the Rickards boom has grown to very formidable proportions, so far at least as Butte is concerned.

Bob Smith, populist candidate for governor, has been in town for a day or two. He was a pretty close observer of the democratic convention Friday and he is also here to watch the populist convention which will be held on Monday.

There are people who say that the democratic convention on Friday was not as harmonious as it might have been. They say that there were indications of dissension, elements of discord. However this may be, the democratic convention will be as a dead calm to a stormy sea when compared with the republican convention which is going to be held on Wednesday. It is admitted by all republicans that there is going to be a free fight. It will be a three days' battle between the A. P. wing and the "others." On Monday there will be the caucuses; on Tuesday the primaries will take place and on Wednesday will take place the convention. No provision is being made for any white-winged doves of peace. There is no pretense on either side. Both factions declare that it is going to be war from start to death, that there will be no compromise and no mercy. The A. P. is determined to dictate all nominations in the republican party and the other republicans, both Americans and Cornish, are determined that they shall not propose to have one or two offices themselves.

While primaries and conventions are concerning the politicians, it is to be hoped that the people will not overlook the fact that the cause of silver is first and foremost; that as compared with the election of Bryan and Sewall everything else is petty. Butte expects every true friend of silver to join the Bryan and Sewall club and contribute towards the campaign which that club will make in the East all through the fall. In this great silver club it is proposed that Clark and Daly democrats may dwell in peace; that A. P. As and antis may fight shoulder to shoulder; that populists, democrats and republicans may all do something for a cause which will not be merely a temporary benefit to a few selfish office seekers, but will be a permanent benefit to all.

Those who are soliciting subscriptions to the club fund report good success. The success has been such that there is no doubt that many of the best speakers in Montana will be sent east to campaign until the war is over. Among those it is hoped to send east are W. A. Clark, Lee Mantle, Hal S. Corbett, E. D. Matts, E. B. Howell, J. K. Toole, Charles Lane, M. L. Wines, W. H. Day of Bozeman, Charles S. Hartman, J. M. Quinn, Martin Maginnis and others, regardless of politics. Frank Shaw has just returned from New York and reports that he was in the democratic committee rooms in New York city recently when a big invoice of campaign literature arrived on which was $25 express charges. There was not $25 in the committee's treasury and they had to send to Chairman Jones to rustle the funds. Yet there were hundreds of thousands at the disposal of the McKinley campaigners. It will be impossible to match the millions which the gold forces are ready to put up for this campaign, but enough should be furnished for legitimate and necessary campaign work. Montana must do her share and the solicitors for the silver fund should be greeted cordially and generously treated.

COLUMBIA GARDENS.

Sunday, Aug. 30, 1896, Grand Musical Carnival.

Programme for the afternoon. The carnival of high class melody begins at 1:30 p. m., introducing the Emmet Guard band and Silver Bow band.
Fashion ascension and parachute leap at 5 p. m.

Special selections by the Emmet Guard band at 5:30 p. m.

Programme for the evening. 7:30 p. m. the City Cornet band and Professor Marino's band and orchestra will open the evening's entertainment.

Programme at midnight. Amidst a grand burst of music from all the bands combined the daring and successful aeronaut, Leonard, the "Prince of the Air," will soar away into the dark canopy of night with his illuminated balloon. After attaining the highest possible altitude, this intrepid aeronaut will, like some unseemingly aerial monster, heralding the end of the world, blast the atmosphere with bombs of thunder; illuminating the mammoth balloon with wondrous blaze of light and shower from the dark heavens, a glittering array of fireworks; giving an exhibition of aeronautical engineering this part of the world has never seen before. Grand concert by all the bands directly after the illuminated ascension. Dancing in two pavillons. Admission 50 cents.

ON MISSIONARIES.

A Lecture to Be Delivered by Mrs. Christian on Sept. 2.

Mrs. Versis L. Christian, national organizer of the Christian Woman's board of Missions, will deliver a lecture at the Christian church Wednesday evening, Sept. 2. Following the lecture there will be a reception in honor of Mrs. Christian and Miss Kingsbury, the latter a distinguished missionary recently returned from India. In addition to the lecture and reception, an excellent musical programme has been prepared for the occasion. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Forgers Sentenced for Life.

San Francisco, Aug. 29.—Carl Becker and James Greegan, the Nevada bank forgers, were today sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Wallace. Becker, Creagan and A. H. Dean concocted a scheme to rob the Nevada bank. They raised a draft through the Bank of Woodland from $12 to $25,000. Dean cashed the check at the Nevada bank, where he had a deposit, claiming to be a broker.
Becker is said to be the most skillful forger in the country and Creagan was the capitalist who furnished the money with which to operate.

The K. of P. 8-ision.

Cleveland, Aug. 29.—The most impor-body of the Knights of Pythias at the morning session was the ritual for the unimproved rank, which was finally adopted. After this routine business was taken up.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Mrs. Sullivan Brings Action Against the Street Railway Company.

MULLIN VS. THE SHERIFF

The Recent Attachment of the Southern Hotel—A Cornwall, England, Probate Case—Matters in District Court

Julia Sullivan, as guardian for May A. Sullivan, an infant, yesterday commenced an action in the district court against the street railway company for $20,000 sustained by the death of the child's father, John R. Sullivan, who was killed on the cable track at the foot of Centerville hill on the night of May 31. The complaint charges negligence and carelessness on the part of the railroad company. Sullivan had been pipeman at the High Ore mine and lived with his family at No. 4 Jefferson avenue, near the J. I. C. mine. On the night of his death he had been visiting friends at Centerville and started home about 12 o'clock.
An hour later a grimace on a car coming from Walkerville saw the body lying on the track, but before the car could be stopped it had passed over the body. Both legs were cut off and it was otherwise badly mangled. The testimony at the coroner's inquest was that Sullivan was sober when he left his friends' house and there were circumstances that indicated that the man was dead when the last car struck him and that he had been killed by a fall on the trestle or was killed by a previous car. The coroner's jury exonerated the railroad company. Owing to the poverty of the man's family the street railway company paid the funeral expenses. John N. Kirk and E.
J. Dinks are attorneys for Mrs. Sullivan.

An answer was filed yesterday in the suit of Pat Mullin against Sheriff Reynolds, an action for recovery and damages growing out of the recent attachment on the Southern hotel. The answer denies that the stock attached was worth $400 or any sum more than $100 and that the book accounts were worth $2,500 or anything more than $500. It is also denied that the plaintiff owned the property or that he was damaged in the sum of $200 by reason of the attachment that had been levied in a suit of T. F. Courtney against J.
E. Curran. The answer denies that the business of the hotel was interfered with by the attachment and alleges that the sheriff was only constructively and not actually in possession and released the attachment as soon as Mullin filed his claim for it.

Irene Morsehead, one of the executors of the estate of Grace Morsehead, deceased, yesterday filed a permission and obtained an order of court to withdraw the will from the records because the entire estate, consisting of $200 in cash, is on deposit in a Cornwall bank and the latter refuses to recognize the Montana courts and that it is necessary to institute new probate proceedings in Cornwall.

J. T. Sidley, yesterday commenced suit against Annie O'Neil for $450, claimed to be due on an assigned account.

In the suit of Mrs. Hughes against Peter O'Hara for money alleged to have been collected by the defendant, the latter denies that he ever collected money for Mrs. Hughes, but says the suit grows out of a real estate deal in which she wants to recover money paid on a piece of property.

Kate Campbell, widow of John Campbell, who was killed in the St. Lawrence mine a few days ago, filed a petition in court yesterday for letters of administration on her husband's estate.

A Busy Place.

The Prahman Dry Goods company have been receiving their new goods the past week, the back of the store has been literally jammed with the new arrivals and the force of clerks have been rushed checking them off.
The store fairly sparkles with the freshness of the autumn styles, and we predict a lively time when the ladies see those choice things.
